I work with men and boys because.....

Children and adolescents look to us as an example. If we model respect for women and girls, they will do the same. If we stop making sexist and macho comments and jokes, they will also follow suit

What did you learn from #16daysofActivism

That personal, family and community actions are very important, just like those that have financing or that are more global. We can make changes just like the campaigns in the media, we can be examples of men against violence, in favor of abortion by decision, in favor of responsible maternity and paternity in daily life, with concrete actions, doing housework, allocating resources for family feeding and talking to other men about "how to change the rules of the game"

News from GLOBAL

NAMEN welcomes new leadership to the Global Network.

We are pleased to announce that Samitha Sugathimala (she/her) has been elected as our new Co-Chair of MenEngage Alliance. Elected by the Global Board of MenEngage, Samitha joins Bafana Khumalo (he/him) as fellow Co-Chair.

Samitha has been the coordinator of the regional network of MenEngage Alliance South Asia - MEASA, and regional representative to the Global Board, since July 2020. She is Director of the member organization, Foundation for Innovative Social Development <https://fisd.lk>

We are excited to welcome Samitha in her new role as Co-Chair, and continue working together following her fantastic leadership with MenEngage Alliance South Asia.
