NAMEN is producing a State of the Field Report on efforts to engage and mobilize men and boys to prevent gender based violence in Canada and the US. We have completed an initial draft, and have invited an illustrious collection of male engagement practitioners and activists from throughout this region to provide critical feedback and reflections on this report, and offer their thoughts on developing the movement in this region going forward.

You are invited to join in this open conversation -- and to share your thoughts as the conversation unfolds.
